

ABSTRACT

[0058] A stable value investment product which asymmetrically accounts for an assessment by applying the assessment to market value of the stable value investment product and adjusting the assessment applied to stable value of the stable value investment product by a ratio of the stable value to the market value, thereby minimizing put exposure to a wrap provider. Also, a system for administering such stable value investment products.